PRESS RELEASE FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Media Handlers acquires ChannelliveTV in hopes on becoming the only Control Media Publicity Agency in Atlanta!!!

Media Handlers of Atlanta, GA is the first control media publicity agency that really gets it. Born from the Internet generation, they specialize in publicity, media relations, media consulting, graphic design, and video production. In today's announcement, it has acquired shares of a digital broadcast channel, ChannelliveTV. The channel is an online television station broadcasting worldwide with programming designed for the urban demographic audience and has been online for over ten years with a million plus viewers.

According to Dick Wolfele, CEO of Network125, "we believe this is a perfect combination of core strengths to form a full-featured media service company."

Media Handlers states, by utilizing the online multimedia industry, it intends on taking viewers, fans and clients to an informative level of visual awareness within the Atlanta area as it emerges as a Black Entertainment Mecca. They encourage building relationships with publicity agents and management companies in keeping their clients at the top of their helm in promoting public figures, politicians, entertainment artists, Mixtape and album release parties, fashion designers, movies, books as well as any other business ventures in need of a control media agent.

Being a well-rounded multimedia production company it will also create short films, TV shows, live web casts, music videos, social gatherings, and public events. Media Handlers provides professional support in all areas of artistic development, graphic design, image and identity branding.

In addition to being one of the most innovative and unique control media agencies (publicists), Media Handlers says by acquiring ChannelliveTV's digital platform gives them the ability to place any entities visual presentations across many social media networks. (Client Websites, Facebook, YouTube, Twitter & Google Plus) "We understand that the primary and most compelling source of delivering cost effective visual information to the public has increasingly become online broadcasting."

"We look forward to dramatically creating a one stop shop for any visual campaign, broadening the horizons to the way that the public receives and exchanges visual information" according to Mr. Wolfele.
